She became hysterical and had to be sent home. Mrs. Price, who was apparently a woman fifty years old, had suffered for several years from heart trouble, and that was no doubt the cause of her death. Her body was removed to her late home by the police.

For Starving Russia. close a contribution for the relief of the starvduty and Officer William T. Anderson has ing Russion peasants, says: Christmas is a time for spending money and making presents, especially to children, and very largely these presents are toys, which give but transient pleasure. No one can go in the streets of our cities and not see that the children of this favored land are well supplied with Christmas toys. Meanwhile there is a large portion of another country on this planet (which electricity has made one great whispering gallery, so that far Russia is our neighbor) where the children have no toys, not even a crust of bread to eat, and in want and wretchedness they and their fathers and mothers are dying with hunger. I do not believe there is a child in Washington that would not gladly own one toy less if the price of it could be sent to those who are per-ishing. Possibly the giving of presents at Christmas time is a little overdone. Sometimes Christmas time is a little overdone. Sometimes we think that the custom which should be a pleasure is made a burden by the extent to which it is carried, but the pleasure of giving bread to the starving cannot be overdone. If bread to the starving cannot be overdone. If the children of the most despotically governed country in our world are fed by the children will then be an object lesson wrought that cannot fail to instruct the great human family.

I am glad The Stan will receive contribuof the country that has the most freedom there I am glad THE STAR will receive con tions for the starving Russians. A Stolen Bicycle.

Yesterday morning a stranger giving his name as Lucas J. Brown appeared at Dokin's bicycle establishment and wanted to sell a new enshion-tire bicycle for $60. Mr. Dakin suspected that the wheel had been stolen and he made arrangements for the man to call in the afternoon and get his money. In the mean-time Detective Mattingly was notified and he learned that the bicycle had been stolen from Mr. H. E. Duween, a student at Georgetown College. The chain that was left on the bicycle and had been broken off was found in the man's pocket when he was arrested.

The prisoner claimed that the bicycle was given to him by another man to sell. The case will be heard in the Police Court when Mr. Duwcen returns home from Philadelphia.
